INTRODUCTION

Corporate social responsibility (CSR) has emerged and developed rapidly as a field of study. It has emerged as a vital technique and framework for addressing the role of commercial enterprise in society, placing standards of behaviour to which a agency should fallow to effect society in a effective and an powerful manner at the same time as abiding by values that exclude income looking for at any cost. Empirical proof suggests that CSR actions lead to superior marketplace overall performance. CSR practices can effect customer satisfaction, employee satisfaction, stronger logo fairness and favourable attitudes toward firms. These relational advantages, in turn, increase corporation reputation and financial overall performance. Corporate social responsibility generally refers to the strategies implemented by corporations to behaviour their commercial enterprise in a manner this is ethical, society friendly and beneficial to community in terms of development CSR describes a corporation's duty to defend and enhance social welfare now as well as in the future, by generating sustainable advantages for stakeholders.

CSR became a crucial part of commercial enterprise strategy for many organizations for addressing the social and environmental effect of agency activities. Although many firms use CSR, many others nevertheless don't forget the society and surroundings to be the smaller area inside the economic system circle. Studies display that the extra the agencies are socially responsible the larger the agencies are furthermore, because stakeholders and traders demand that agencies become extra socially and environmentally responsible. Top management locate that they under terrific pressure to adopt CSR in order to attract such stakeholders and traders.

DISCUSSION

Examining the relationship between social welfare and agency profitability is time and again being the focus of study and studies in the area of social responsibility. A corporation should have a terrific aggressive benefit in acquiring financial or social advantages or both when it uses CSR process capabilities that support the corporation's strategic initiatives. The relationship between CSR practices and corporation overall performance has been the point of interest of numerous research in various settings. However, there may be a loss of studies inspecting the practices of CSR and its effect on corporation overall performance in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region.

A survey is used as a methodology to design this look at since the objective of the paper is to take a look at the impact of company social responsibility of huge companies and SMEs on company performance. Questionnaire is taken into consideration the perfect approach even it has each advantages and disadvantages. To do the questionnaire in a proper way, the responses should be gathered in a standardized way to obtain objectivity.

In this survey the preceding drawback is decreased with the aid of using undertaking a pilot look at check. Furthermore, to keep away from the low reaction fee as a drawback of the questionnaire, actions have been taken to keep away from this hassle and beautify and enhance the reaction fee. After reviewing the literature and studies research related to subject of this look at, a creation of the primary draft of the questionnaire is ready. A pilot check has been made with the aid of using sending the questionnaire to a few academics in this subject to give their opinions. The questionnaire has been also sent to five groups listed in the sample selected. Some minor clarification sand changes were made to the questionnaire according to the results of the pilot tests. There is no concern about any reliability or validity.

CONCLUSION

Several areas of future studies can be suggested. One of the main differences among the effects of this look at and others research is control philosophy which might be different in growing countries than developed countries. Therefore, future studies can have a look at the role control characteristic and leadership in shaping corporate social policy and tracking managerial actions. The studies should cover how social obligation can help companies with low economic overall performance or horrific popularity to enhance its overall performance, photograph and popularity in the marketplace and at the consumers' minds. Moreover, they should take a look at the disadvantages and side effects of the social obligation as its miles a controversial issue. In fact, the majority of CSR research does now no longer understand cultural elements together with faith in viewing and understanding the concept of CSR and its practice. Religion could be an essential element of CSR; for example, the Islamic philosophy is rich in values relating to CSR. Thus, investigate the influence of faith as an environmental / cultural factor in viewing CSR may also offer in addition insights.
